THE NEXT CHAPTER: REDESIGNING ACADEMIC RETIREMENT IN THE TWENTY-FIRST CENTURY

This mini-conference is designed to foster discussion between retired and non-retired faculty and to highlight opportunities for faculty as they begin “the next chapter” of their lives. Many universities and colleges, including Wayne State, have established organizations to keep retired faculty connected to the academic environments in which they have worked and to support them socially and professionally in this new stage of their lives. Speakers and panelists include Roger Baldwin (Professor Emeritus, Michigan State University; Board Member of the Association of Retirement Organizations in Higher Education), Peter Lichtenberg (Director, WSU Institute of Gerontology), Arthur Marotti (Director, WSU Emeritus Academy), Anmarie Caño (Associate Provost for Faculty Development), Robert Sokol (former Dean of WSU School of Medicine), Marion Jackson (Distinguished Professor Emerita, Art and Art History), Robert MacKenzie (Psychiatry and Neuroscience, retired), Steven Bowers (Associate Dean, University Libraries), and Dennis Tini (Distinguished Professor Emeritus, Music).
