

A Special Presentation

How Contingency Works: Gendered & Racial Dynamics of Teaching and the Role of Non-Tenure Line Faculty

Monday, April 1
10:30 - 11:30 am
71 E. Ferry St, 2nd Floor
Detroit, MI 48202 (map)
Free and Open to All

Mónica Russel y Rodríguez, PhD

*Assistant Provost, Diversity and Inclusion
Office of Institutional Diversity and Inclusion
Senior Lecturer, Weinberg College
Northwestern University*

Thirty year trends in higher education show an increase in non-tenure line faculty across the nation. Against that backdrop, Dr. Russel y Rodríguez will bring to the surface the particular ways in which non-tenure line faculty are deployed and how the framing of non-tenured work rely on a specifically gendered reading of productive/reproductive labor.

Based on her experience as a non-tenure eligible faculty and as a faculty administrator, she will bring to the foreground ideologies, assumptions, and languages we use that unwittingly draw upon gendered and racial assumptions of power (and pay) and, in doing so, unsettle our own practices.

Please RSVP to Kelly Hicks by March 27 at kellyhicks@wayne.edu or 313-664-2507

Co-sponsored by:

Merrill Palmer Skillman Institute
Wayne State University Office of the Provost
Wayne State University Center for Latino/a and Latin American Studies
Wayne Women Lead